OverDrive Breaks the iPod Barrier for Downloadable Audio

Norman Oder – Library Journal, 3/15/05

- 3000 titles will be available
- No DRM means compatibility with iPods, iPhones
- Libraries will remind patrons of copyright

For years, librarians and patrons have complained that the most popular digital audio player, the iPod, was incompatible with the Windows Media Audio (WMA) files, the format for library downloadable audio. OverDrive now says it will offer at least 3000 titles—about 15 percent of its catalog—in MP3 format without digital rights management (DRM), which means compatibility with nearly every MP3 player and mobile phone, including iPods. OverDrive MP3 Audiobooks will go on sale in May at Borders.com and should be available to libraries by the end of June, to be followed with the release of OverDrive Media Console for the Mac.

OverDrive CEO Steve Potash said the policy change emerged from demand in the library market, OverDrive's track record, and "some recent moves in the audiobook retail market," including an Forget Powell's. Just a few blocks away sits one of the best libraries you're going to find.

A Multnomah County Library card is the key to this city, so get one first thing upon moving to Portland. Next, cherish it and use it often. The Multnomah County Library system is one of the most loved library networks in the country. It seems I'm not the only one who is enamored with their book selection and their incredibly extensive CD and DVD collection. (The audio-visual component is great for us broke 20-somethings. Go browse at Powells, Jackpot, and Movie Madness, for those great books, CDs and DVDs and quickly go put a hold on those titles at the library). While some particularly popular titles do demand a long hold period, there is enough selection to last you a great deal of time.

A few tips: Program the reference line number (503) 988-5234 into your phone—it's a great resource for resolving trivia disputes. For a personalized and well though out book recommendation list, click on the Ask Us button and write them a note explaining the books (authors and titles are helpful!) that you most love to read. They will email you back with an impressively detailed and valuable list of things you might like.

If you work for a school, get an educator card. Just bring your pay stub to the desk and they'll give you the Multnomah County Gold Card--it buys you a much longer stamp and unlimited holds.

Carvers Bay (SC) Branch Library: Gaming the Way to Literacy (August 2006)

A new library for a new century

Innovation happens in the most surprising places. If asked which US library is pushing the envelope on introducing interactive computer gaming in public libraries, how many would look to the most rural, poor, and isolated corner of a county in South Carolina? And if informed that this corner of the library world has a 39% illiteracy rate, a 15% unemployment rate, a poverty level exceeding 30% with up to 90% of school kids eligible for free or reduced-rate lunches, and a meager 2% rate for library card registration, what odds would you give that it can even keep its doors open?

Although the brand new Carvers Bay Branch of the Georgetown County Library System has its demographic challenges, it also has some visionary

Some have tried smoking rooms, had boy's club rooms and games, and many have tried simply to make the rooms homelike and cheery, and all of their experience is valuable to us.

The whole building at all times should be managed in the broadest spirit of hospitality; the atmosphere should be as gracious, kindly and sympathetic as one's own home. Then do away with all unnecessary restrictions, take down all the bars, and try to put face to face our friends the books and our friends the people.
